

Bailey's Bulletin

Volume 15 Issue 2

May 2011

A publication of the Hamilton Mountain Heritage Society
Founded September 1996

Our Society's logo was designed by Jim Elliott, a retired graphic artist and charter member of the HMHS. We are proud to display this logo on the masthead of our newsletters and stationery.

Bailey's Bulletin is named in honour of the Reverend Melville T. Bailey, who was a proud Mountain resident and founder of the HMHS.

Bailey's Bulletin is published three times per year.

The Henderson Name Lives On

The name of the hospital on the Mountain brow has been changed but thanks to the efforts of the HMHS the Henderson name will not disappear.

On May 27th new commemorative street signs will be unveiled declaring the streets around the hospital as "Nora Frances Henderson Circle".

The signs, which will sit atop the existing street signs feature green lettering on a white background with a picture of Ms. Henderson and her life dates: 1897-1949.

Hamilton City Council approved the designation and signs. Pat Saunders, on behalf of the members of the HMHS, worked collaboratively with Ward 7

Councillor Scott Duvall and his assistant Monique Taylor on this initiative.

Also in the works is a commemorative plaque honouring Nora. That application is to be brought to the Joint Plaquing Subcommittee this month.

Following the unveiling of the new street signs the HMHS will host a reception at St. Stephen on the Mount Anglican Church. We thank the congregation of that church for their generosity in opening their doors for this occasion.

All members of the public are invited to attend the unveiling, at the corner of Concession Street and Poplar Street on Friday, May 27th at 1 pm, and to enjoy the reception immediately following.

A Blast from Our Past

At the general meeting of May 2008 HMHS members were told about:

- *the upcoming centennial celebration of Concession Street and the play, written by Ronald MacDonald, based on the book “Our World’s a Stage” to be performed during ‘Concessionfest’
- *the release of fact sheets for each of the 15 wards in the city produced by the HHB
- *upcoming public meetings to discuss the redevelopment of the Mountain Plaza
- *that year’s June Outing which would tour through the Dundas area

Michael Gemmel gave that evening’s talk on Five Famous Hamilton Women. Some highlights from his talk:

Adelaide Sophia Hunter Hoodless (1858-1910): the mother of four children one of whom died in his first year after drinking contaminated milk. She helped found the YWCA in 1894 and rented the Customs House to accommodate cooking, sewing and housekeeping classes. With Mrs. Erland Lee she founded the Women’s Institute.

Janet Robertson Chisholm was the first kindergarten teacher in Hamilton (1887) at Central Public School. She married Erland Lee and with Adelaide Hoodless drafted the constitution of the Women’s Institute. Janet Lee School, in Stoney Creek, is named for her.

Alice Patterson Lee Freel (1889-1982) was the daughter of Janet and Erland Lee. She was the first woman in Stoney Creek to serve on municipal council, an appointed position. It was her family that lit up a Christmas tree at the top of the Punch Bowl, the inspiration for the cross that now stands there.

Sarah Calder founded The Women’s Art Association of Hamilton. A great-great-granddaughter of the Gages she mortgaged her own home to purchase the Gage House for a museum. She was part of the group that erected the monument to the Battle of Stoney Creek and the statue of Queen Victoria.

Nora Frances Henderson (1897-1949) was the first woman elected to Hamilton Council on the slogan ‘throwing money away today may land you in a breadline tomorrow’. She was the first executive secretary of the Association of Children’s Aid Societies in Ontario. The Henderson hospital was named after her by Hamilton City Council and she was named to the Hamilton Gallery of Distinction in 1990.

Website about Hamilton Mountain Launched

April 27th saw the launch of a new website dedicated to Hamilton Mountain. The very fitting address is: www.hamiltonmountain.ca. There you will find current information, such as the time, weather and air quality reports, links to news publications and heritage resources as well as information about our natural resources. There's a page devoted to Auchmar as well as our own Hamilton Mountain Heritage Society. The site is devoted to all things 'Hamilton Mountain' and hopes to become a 'meeting place' for those who love the Mountain.
